Ex-Congressman William Elliott was at home during the storm. He is looked upon as a careful observer and fully conversant with the situation on the coast islands. He is no alarmist, He corroborates the death loss, and says that Beaufort is full of hope, although the people see ruin on every hand.

Collector and ex-Congressman Robert Smalls is working hard to do what he can for the colored people. There are, he thinks, about 1,000 people drowned. He thinks that a great deal of assistance will be needed to keep the hegroes from starvation.

At Port Royal the loss is not as distressing as at Beaufort. The city is already getting down to its normal condition, but is busy repairing the damage of the cyclone.

The situation, however, is very blue. There have been only two days of sunshine since the cyclone.

the cyclone, and to-day heavy rains, with cyclone indications, have cast a damper upon the situation.

But, above all, the news of the terrible devastation and loss of life and crops on the Sea Islands have cast a gloom on the city. The situation is appalling. A very large part of the business of the city comes from the devastated section, and with no cotton and very little rice the business outlook becomes distressingly bad.

As refugees from the stricken coast come in they bring awful and pitiful stories. From Ponpon come this story: Laura Hamilton, a colored woman, and her baby escaped from the rapidly rising water in her house, and tried to seek safety for hesself and her baby.

The waters rushed down upon her. She attempted to awim, holding her child above the water, clinging to its clothing with her teeth. Bhe struggled hravely for some time, but was finally exhausted and drowned with the child. In another instance a negro woman was washed out of her house. She held her baby in her arms. Drifting by: a toll gate she grasped ens of its pillairs, and held on throughout the terrible hours of the storm. She was not rescued until 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Two negro boys finated oif on a wtraw stack. After going several miles up the river the straw parted and one of the boys was drowned. Mr. B. H. Pinnear rescued the family of litchmond Branham. Branham himself was drowned.

Roberts came to the city yesterday John Roberts came to the city yesterday from Dewees Island and reported a most dusperate condition of things among the few people living there. He said that he was fishing for terrapin in Bulb Bay when the storm came up, and that he could not possibly reach home. When he returned he found that three of the four houses on the island had been swept away, and that he had lost everything in the world. The house in which his mother lived was blown down, and she was caught in the wrock, where she remained for two days before help came. She was badly injured by the timbers. His wife and five children, the youngest only 2 years old, suffered terribly. When the storm blew the ends out of the house his wife pushed the children through a hole into the loft and on Monday swam to the nearest high ground with them, one at a time.

swam to the nearest high ground with them, one at a time.

There she wrapped them up in two old shawls and waited for the wind and waves to subside. For two days they did not have a mouthful to eat and lost all their provisions.

It is estimated by some to-day that on the Bea Islands 1,500 people have been drowned, and that 15,000 are without proper food and practically starving. Many of the negroes on the Sea Islands are tenant farmers, who also work on the larger plantations.

All the crops are practically destroyed, the stock all drowned, and there is actually not enough provisions in the country to keep the people alive.

A mass meeting of the citizens of Charleston was held here to-day, and relief was at once sept. There will be collections in all the sontributions of food and clothing were made by merchants.

Several tugs and steamers were offered for service free, and the Savannah Hallway Company offered free transportation. A general relief committee was appointed with J. B. Barnwell Chairman. A full canvass will be made in every ward of the city for money, food, and clothing for the sea coast sufferers. The first train departed for the destitute district this afternoon.

At Rockville, on Edisto Island, yesterday the bodies of twenty-one wrecked seamen were buried in one grave. The beach along the const is strewn with the bodies of dead seamen and with wrocks, of which no accurate the search of the committee and outside with search and that every Cieveland man stayed at the meeting until it closed.

The Second Assembly District Committee was ordered to appear before the County Committee at 2 P. M. on Wednesday, to which hour the committee adjourned. At that time it is supposed that the Hill committee will be constituted investigation, several years ago, Gov. Tillman made a trip all through the seacoast territory, and he has a thorough knowledge of the islands. This knowledge of the coast makes him fear that the worst of the cyclone is not yet known.

He said to-day that he was afraid to get the compilete returns of the disaster. He has received a telegram from Col. J. Averill. saying he had appointed a Relief Committee.

To-day the Governor gave his time and attention to the matter of plans for the immediate relief of the stricken. He has thrown all other public husiness to the winds for the present. This afternoon he appointed Dr. J. W. Babcock, Superintendent of the State Lunatte Asylum, epscal agent to go to the scene and prepare a report of the actual condition of affairs. Dr. Babcock left this afternoon. Most of his journey will have to be made in a specially chartered rug. Said the lovernor: "I want, first, an absolutely correct account-

I want first, an absolutely correct accounting of the losses on these islands and in this territory. I want to know exactly what houses are gone and what houses are standing. I want to know what has been done with the dead that have been there on the sands for a whole week. I want to know if tents are needed to house the women and children.

I want to know if there is not danger of some epidemic breaking out and wiping out all the people there who have survived the war of the elements. I want to know what sanitary arrangaments I can have made to avertany threatened epidemic.

I am terribly worried about the condition of things, and I want some information on those lines as soon as I can get it. I am very anxious to know, too, if in this calamity it will be of any use to get the Red Cross Society to send its representatives there.

This society does this kind of work wherever are is great loss of life, by war or otherwise, it know that its flag is respected in all the tries. We want to guard, too, against the people who, seeing that aid is coming.

I do not want any abuse of charity. We ant to look after the women and children, homes first of all.

"If it is necessary we must have the women and children in tents immediately. The people have the lish of the sea there to prevent them from starving, provided they can get a little bread from other sources.

"They can live where they are cheaper and better for the present than if they tried to transport them into some other section of the State. Clothing and food of all kinds should be sent them there. They don't less have their potatoes left in the ground.

"I hope, too, that some one will make them so to work at once and plant turnips on the latands. They can get them teady for winter, and it is the only crop that they can now raise. The stock of provisions at Beaufort and other points down there will run out very likely in a day or two.

"Therefore, I would suggest to the people that instead of sending money altogether they "Therefore. I would suggest to the people that instead of sending money altogether they would purchase provisions and meats and send them to the Relie! Countities which I have just appointed. I should think that some of this money should be telegraphed to Charleston with instructions that provisions be bought and forwarded from that point, as it is near and the goods could be sent around." In addition to the loss of life and private property, the State and the phose-hate companies will be heavy losers. The phose-hate industry, from which he State derives a large part of its revenue, is practically paralyzed. Upon the receipt of a despatch from Phose-hate Inspector Jones to-day, saying that every one of the mining commanies had been destroyed and that everything was ruined, the Governor telegraphed the Inspector to report here in person as soon as possible. "I will call a meeting," said the Governor, "of the State Phose-hate tommission on Monday or Tuesday in this city and try to do something to get the mining companies in running order within the next few months.

"We will have to bear a portion of this fearpanies in running order within the next few months.

"We will have to bear a portion of this fearful less. It is very certain that we will have to reduce the phosphato royally considerably, and this reduction will have to inst until the companies can get on their feet again. This will not hurt the state finances this year, but is likely to be serious next rear. We have already had more than the average yearly amount paid in the Treasury for this year.

"I have not heard from the bigle's boat Saily, but I hope she has discretained, as sho never was worth anything. I feel much sympathy for the contractor who is building the big docks for the Government at Port loyal. He has already been half rulted by his niperfectures, and this storm will probably finish him."

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.- The bark Mary C. Hale, which arrived here to-day from Savan-nah, landed the shipwrecked crew of sixteen men of the Norwegian bark Dagny, from Mobite for Dublin, which was struck by the storm of Sunday last.

For hours the exhausted men had been elinging to the after house, expecting with every wash of the seas to be swept away. DEMOCRATIC FACTIONS IN MONROE. The Hill Men Control the County Committee and Provide for New Caucuses. ROCHESTER, Sept. 2.—The Democratic County Committee held a stormy session at the Hotel Bartholomay this morning. This meeting was called for 11 o'clock, but before that hour State Committeeman William H. Tracy and Valentine Fleckenstein were on hand and working like beavers.

Mr. Fleckenstein's plan appeared to be to

The Hill men charge that the Cleveland men offered money for votes after they found that they could not break the quorum. At all events a Cleveland man said to a reporter:

"We have switched oil three of Tracy's men by promising them Federal appointments."

It would seem, however, that this story was not authentic because Mr. Fleckenstein, whattended the meeting as proxy for his committeeman from the Leventh ward, came down stairs into the hotel lobby at 1 o'clock and told a reporter that Tracy had a majority in the committee. in the committee.

Before he could say any more Mr. Fleckenstein was called away by a follower, who said:

EXIT JOHNNY DAVENPORT.

The Evictors Were Not Experts, but They Cleared the Place Eventually.

Johnny Davenport was fired out of the Post Office building yesterday by Postmaster Dayton. As the readers of Tuz Sun are aware, the Chief Supervisor occupied rooms 174, 176, and 178 on the top floor of the building as offlees, where he annually hired a lot of blackguards to swear Democratic voters into juli at the expense of the United States. On Aug. 26 the Postmaster got a letter from the acting Secretary of the Treasury authorizing him to evict Davenport. In a courteous letter he informed Mr. Davenport that the three rooms were needed for other purposes, and that the secretary of the Treasury had ordered that were needed for other purposes, and that the secretary of the Treasury had ordered that they be vacated.

Davenport paid no attention to the letter, lie sild not answer it. His cieck, James E. Doran, who is a roung man with considerable nerve, was at the office every day. He was there yesterday morning when Frederick J. Swift the chief clerk to the Postmaster, went up stairs with Assistant custodian Flaherty and three strapping big watchmen. Mr. Swift went in with the walchmen. He didn't know Doran and Doran didn't know him.

"Mr. Poran, Mr. Swift," said a reporter.

"Ym glad to meet you, sir," said Mr. Swift, and his chin trembled.

"Who the devil is he?" said Mr. Doran to the reporter.

"Who the dovil is he?" said Mr. Doran to the reporter.

"That's the chief clerk to the Postmaster." said the reporter.

"The devil." said Mr. Doran.

Mr. Swift and the three big watchmen had backed off a few feet. Mr. Swift was standing now with his back to Mr. Doran. Mr. Doran dors of the room. Swift and the watchmen were in line. Suddenly Doran took a hop skip, and a miny and came bane against the door. The door west take against swift and Swift went lang against the watchmen. Doran dug his herts into the floor and with his shoulder against the door be pushed thefore the chief clerk knew what was happening. Postensser Daviou wrote another polite note to Pavenport yesterday afternoon and told him that every facility would be given him to remove his records and whatever pertained to him or his office, but that he could no longer have the use of the rooms. Mr. Dayten expects no answer to this communication either.

LOCAL BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Taylor Bros., Pawanrakers, Knocked On Taylor Brothers, pawnbrokers at 94 Hester street, corner of Eldridge, have given a ill of sale of their business here to M. Simons, the father-in-law of one of the partners, for $94. sout and he is now carrying on the business. It is said that Mr. Simons took the business to protect himself for loans he had made to the irm, and for paper he had discounted or endorsed. The firm's embarrassment is ascribed chiefly to its connection with a tanning businass in Pennsylvania-the failure of M. Berliner & Co. of Corry and Spartansburg. One of the Berliners is a brother-in-law of the Tay-lors. It is currently reported here that Taylor Brothers endorsed for M. Berliner & Co. to the extent of $45,000. The latter firm failed about two weeks ago with liabilities of about $125,-000, and ascribed the failure to inability to collect $45,000 due in New York. Berliner & Co. are of considerable interest to their creditors in this city, some of whom have brought suit here with a view of getting hold of property supposed to be in this State. Henry Werner is reported to be a creditor for $30,000, Schultz, Innes & Co., $11,000, and M. Berliner & Co. confessed judgment to Taylor Bros. for $10,000, to Charles Werner for $10,000, and M. Simons for $12,000. The stock of the firm in Pennsylvania was sold out by the Sheriff and bought in by Mr. Simons for $1,000. It is alleged by creditors that the stuff was valued at $30,000 to $40,000. Schultz, Innes & Co. have brought suit in this city to recover $16,000.

Domenico Cuecio, importer of foreign fruits at 24 State street, is reported to have transferred all his property to his wife and nephew and to have gone to Europe with his wife and children. J. Aparicio & Co. have brought suit against him for $27,800, which they say is due on bills of exchange and drafts made by Fratelli Cueclo at Falermo and accepted by Domenico Cuecio; and also on his notes. D. Cueclo and J. Aparicio & Co. have brought suit with Lazard Frieres of London for $40,000. Aparicio & Co. allege that Cueclo conveyed all his real estate in Brooklyn, except one lot, to to his wife, Mary C., Cuecio, for a nominal consideration, and conveyed to a nephew another piece of property, with intent to defraud creditors, just before his last note fell due, and left with his wife and family for Europe and has not returned. It is said that Mr. Cuecio had considerable property in Brooklyn and New Utracht.

A Motion to Remove the James H. Walker Company's Receiver.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Preliminary legal proceedings were taken before Judge Baker to-day to have the receiver for the James H. Walker Company removed. The matter came up on a motion of Dunham. Buckley & Co., creditors of the commany. The proposition was contested by the attorney for the receiver and counsel for creditors who have so far been identified with the litigation. Judge Baker entered an order continuing a hearing on the motion to the September term, instructing the receiver not to distribute any money to creditors of the not to distribute any money to creditors of the company in the mean time.

LEAVE AUNPICT D BOUNES,

Surgeon-General Wyman Sartefied with the Precautions Taken to Prevent Cholera Ep cading - No New Cases Developed. Surgeon-General Wyman of the United States Marine Hospital service was one of the first visitors at the office of the Jersey City Health Department yesterday morning. He was accompanied by Dr. Preston H. Pailbache of his staff. He went thoroughly over the measures adopted to stamp out cholers in Jersey City, and expressed appreval of what had been done.

He said he would send a corps of surgeons of the United States Marine Hospital Service to assist the local authorities and take charge of any new cases of cholera that might develop. In the mean time he suggested that the houses in which the suspected cases occurred and the neighboring streets be theroughly disinfected. The local health officials complied with the suggestion at once. Later Dr. Wyman, accompanied by Dr. Clark of the New Jersey State Board, drove to these houses on a tour of inspection. He found everything on a tour of inspection. He found everything in a satisfactory condition. He said there was no danger of an epidemic.

Dr. listle and members of the sanitary squad disinfected the houses in which suspicious cases occurred, and placed them in quarantine. They also scattered disinfectants plentifully in the neighborhood of the houses in State street and Monticello, Culver, McAdoo, and Fiske avenues, and also in and about the hoat house on the bank of the Morris Canal, in which Mrs. Lewis gave the crab supper that was followed by four deaths with symptoms like cholera.

According to the regulations adopted, nobody is to be permitted to enter or leave a house from which suspects have been taken for the present. When the occupants want anything they are to notify the policeman on guard from the windows, and he will have their wants attended to. Provisions brought to the houses are to be passed in by the policemen.

Dr. Woodruff of the State Board of Health

To the nouses are to be provided in the state of the liter.

Dr. Woodruff of the State Board of Health has been placed in charge of the City Hospital. where Mrs. Smith and Orderly Martin Crowe died, the latter, it has been proved, of cholera. The heapital was placed in quarantine on Friday, and honour is amoved the leave it.

The quarantine will be maintained for at least seven days. In the mean time all new patients, except cholera suspects, will be sent to M. Francis's or to Christ Hospital.

The names of the people who attended the wakes and funerals of suspected victims of cholera will be ascertained so far as possible, and their houses disinfected and temporarily quarantined.

and their houses disinfected and temporarily quarantined.

Surgeon Bailhache will have charge of the United States officials who have been assigned to assist the local authorities. A room in Police headquarters has been set apart for his use. Three men of the Marine Hospital service reported to him yesterday and went out on a tour of inspection with the local sanitary officers.

reported to him yesterday and went out on a tour of inspection with the local sanitary officers.

Dr. Jenkins was in Jersey City in conference with the other experta. In the afternoon he went with County Physician Converse, Dr. Bailhache, and Dr. Brinkerhoff to Potter's Field at Snake Hill and had the body of Mrs. Smith disinterred.

A portion of the intestines were removed and taken to New York to be subjected to an examination by Dr. Biggs, Chief Inspector of Pathology, Bacterlology, and Disinfection in the New York Health Department. If the examination shows that she died from cholera, then it will be taken for granted that her brother-in-law, William Morton, whom she attended during his illness, died from cholera also.

Dr. Biggs notified the Jersey City authorities that he would not be able to give a decision in the case of Mrs. Rhoda Black, the suspect in Fiske avenue, until to-day.

A cholera suspect was picked up by Policeman Coyne in Van Vorst Park yesterday. He is James Lynch, 26 years old, of 416 Second street, Kearney. He has no symptoms of cholers beyond pains in the stomach, and he will be discharged to-day.

President Wilson of the New York Board of Health decided yesterday to keep the entire summer corps of fifty physicians on duty for another month. Their regular term expires on Tuesday. He said he did not believe that cholera would reach us, but if it did his department would be ready for it. Work on the new Reception Hospital at the foot of Sixteenth street will be hurried.

sult of the Cruise-The Am steur Jack Tare Behaves Like Veteran Man-o'- War's Men. The cruise of the First Naval Battalion is at an end. The New Hampshire hove in sight around Blackwell's Island about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, under tow of the tugs C. E. Evarts and Lewis Polver. Along the dock at the foot of East Twenty-eighth street a crowd had congregated to welcome the Reserves, who could be seen crowded upon the poop. Owing to the rocks in the West Channel it took eareful work on the part of the tugs to keep the ship clear, and nearly an hour and a half was consumed in getting the ship alongside the dock and sending cutters out with iron cables to moor her.

When Commander Miller, who had supervised the mooring from his place on the bridge, gave a sign that all was shipshape, the band burst into the strains of " Home, Sweet Home," and, as if involuntarily, a triple cheer answered the music. There were cheers for the cruise, for Commander Miller, and for the Lieutenants of divisions, and in the midst of mission and the cruise was over. The men say they worked as they never worked before, but that the cruise was a very happy affair aside from the rigorous duties.

Lieut, W. H. Stayton of the Fourth division said: "I cannot speak too highly of the work and general conduct of the men during the cruise. It has been a great surprise to the officers that so much has been accomplished. I have always contended that it would be much better for us to go off by ourselves as we did than to go in a regular cruiser, because of the groundwork so obtained in the handling of small boats and general naval discipline. For instance, during the blow on Thursday night if we had been on a naval vessel we never would have sent our men out to let go the extra anchor, but we had to in this case, and the men learned all the more from the experience. The men have done the duties of regular men-of-war's men and have done them well. If an old naval officer had been aboard during the cruise, judging from the scenes and sounds of naval life on the upper decks, he could not have told whether he was on a regular man-of-war or not. The work of our boatswains has been admirable."

Quite a serious accident happened on Friday night. When the revenue cutter Manhattan, with city officials on board, went to Oyater Bay to visit the New Hampshire she made fast in the dark to the Jacob's ladder at the stern. The ladder had been accidentally caught over the bow of the whaleboat the men were hoisting up at the time.

When a big swell carried the Manhattan out from the ship the revenue cutter fore the whaleboat from the davits. W. H. Starbuck and C. F. Norton, of the Third division, were in the small boat, and were dumped in the water. Norton struck the cutter in his fail and cut a deep gash in his side. He was taken home on a stretcher as soon as the New Hampshire arrived. it all the New Hampshire was put out of commission and the cruise was over. The men NAVAHOE READY FOR THE TEST. The Field Still Thinks that the Britannia to Seven Minutes Faster.

LONDON, Sept. 2.-The races for the gold cup offered by the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will begin next Wednesday. Members of every yacht club in Great Britain, besides thousands from the general public, are renting places between Ryde and Portsmouth, on the Isle of Wight, from which they will get views of the contests Several steamers filled with excursion parties will accompany the yachts.

The Navahoe has been thoroughly overhaused for the matches. The heel of her mast has been reduced twenty-eight inches, and bowsprit eighteen inches, so she now comes nearly down to the Britannia's rating. Her mainsail has been repaired and strengthened, and the luff has been shortened by cutting the mainsail has been repaired and strengthened, and the luff has been shortened by cutting the tack.

The head sails also have been altered. Among the other changes is the substitution of a flexible wire rope for the hemp boit rope. Royal Phelps Carroll, owner of the Navahoe, has supervised all the alterations, and is confident that he now has his yacht in condition to win. No changes have been made in the Britannia beyond a new boom, solid pine having been substituted for the hollow spar. The 'Prid says of the alterations in the two yachts:

"As good breezes are looked for, the Britannia's stiff main bo om is a sound provision. With the alterations in both vessels it is difficult to say how the race will stand, but, in a true wind of just the particular weight, allowing the Navahoe to carry her best topsail with no more than a deck-edge heel, the Britannia probably would still be seven minutes better."

DEPOSITORS ASKED TO CHIP IN. A Plan for Roopening the Commercial Bank of Brooklyn-The Directors' Notes. This is the proposed plan for the reopening of the Commercial Bank in Brooklyn. The stockholders are to surrender their present stock and take up new stock equal to the old. besides 25 or 50 per cent, as much more to provide a surplus. The depositors are to accept 50 per cent. of their deposits in cash and to take the remaining 50 per cent, in stock. In this way the bank would have a capital of from $200,000 to $250,000 and a surplus of from $25,000 to $50,000. Receiver Dykman said yesterday that he ap-proved the plan, and that he would cooperate Receiver Dykman said yesterday that he approved the plan, and that he would cooperate as far as possible to bring about a resumption. Testerday Mr. Dykman deposited the eight notes of the directors of the bank, for $10,000 each, with the Fulton Bank for collection. The notes were given by the directors shortly after the death of Mr. Hudson, the former President, upon the demand of Mr. Keeney, his successor, to make good the immairment of the bank's capital. They have been in the bank's safe since 1883. Mr. Keeney's note was the first to be paid.

The daughter of Cashier J. J. Vall disposed of the rumors concerning him yesterday by saying that he was in Saratoga, getting much needed rest, and would be back in Brooklyn on Tuesday.

A call has been issued asking the depositors of the Commercial Bank to attend a meeting to be held to-morrow evening at 334 Classon avenue, near Greene avenue, to consider their interests. The call is signed by Haviland & Sons, Thomas J. France, Fry & Lyle, A. Buchanan's Sons, and Nolan Bros.

MRS. QUINN PUTS OFF MOURNING. It Wasn't Quiun, After All, that She Burled

A mistake on the part of Mrs. Ellen Quina. the wife of Marcus A. Quinn, who is the private tutor of the children of Warden William S. McNamara of the almshouse on Blackwell's Island, has led to complications. On Monday, Aug. 7, Mr. Quinn left his home at 221 East Twenty-fourth street to go to the Island. He usually did not return home until the end of the week. Ten days passed and Mrs. Oning heard nothing of her husband. She went to Warden McNamara and learned that her husband had left the Warden's house on Friday. Aug. 11. The next day Mrs. Quinn read this notice in a newspaper:

1:30 P. M.—Bedy of a man was found of Pier 8, Rees River. About 50 years old, fair complexion, brown hair and moustache, dark trousers, leather belt, black Prince Albert cost, white shirt.

hair and moustache, dark trousers, leacher belt, black Prince Albert coal, white shirt.

Mrs. Quinn went to Keeper White at the Morgue and had the body brought back from Hart's Island, whither it had been taken. Mrs. Quinn and a neighbor identified the body as that of Mr. Quinn. On Aug. 23 Mrs. Quinn buried the body. She collected $200 from the Prudential Insurance Company, and paid $110 of the money for the funeral.

Last Tuesday morning Mrs. Quinn got word that her husband was alive but very sick in the Charlty Hospital. She hurried to the hospital and found him suffering with pneumonia. Mr. Quinn explained to his wife that he left Warden MeNamara's house with the intention of going home, but had met some friends, had sipped some whiskey, and had forgot to go home. He recovered consciousness in the hospital.

Mrs. Quinn at once notified the Prudential Insurance Company that she was not entitled to the money paid after the supposed death of her husband. She agreed to return the money.

MARY OWEN'S STOLEN PUG.

Mayor Boody Looking for the Dog Catches All the dog catchers and deputy dog catchers of Brooklyn have been ordered to be at the City Hall on Tuesday. Then Mary Owen, a pretty little girl from Massachusetts, will try to pick out the fellow who stole her pug dog from her arms. Miss Owen has been on a visit to the family of Mr. Bradles at 359 Halsey street. On Thursday morning she went out for a walk, carrying the pug in her arms. In Macon street, near Marcy avenue, a dog catcher seized the dog and ran off. She screamed. A crowd collected and the dog catcher was caught.

The dog catcher offered to return the stolen dog for $3. He went with her and the crowd to the house of her friends. Mrs. Bradles was willing to give the money for the surrender of the pet, but she denounced the man so vigorously that he broke off negotiations and hurried off with the dog.

Then Miss Owefi and her friends appealed to Mayor Boody. He issued an order for the dog's return to the owner, but it could not be found at the pound and is still missing. He therefore called the dog-catching force to the City Hall to discover the culprit. Marcy avenue, a dog catcher seized the dos
